MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT : National Reconnaissance Program
Security Directive No. 5
Industrial Security

1. This memorandum suggests action on the part of the Director of Central Intelligence; this action is contained in paragraph 4.

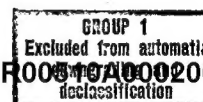

25X1 2. Since 1962 the [redacted] Control System has been the security guide for the protection of NRP information within the U. S. Government. Careful monitoring over the years resulted in an updating of this guide in 1966. Attention to the administration of NRP security in industry paralleled the monitoring within Government. A need was recognized for more clearly defined, uniform security policy and procedures. Extension of the [redacted] Control System to industry will accomplish this in large measure.

25X1 3. The actual codification of principle and procedures was accomplished during a series of meetings between security representatives directly concerned with NRP industrial security from the Office of Security, the DD/S&T, the U. S. Air Force and the National Reconnaissance Office. It takes the form of a guide for NRP Program Directors and Senior Intelligence Officers when their Departments and Agencies enter into industrial relationships requiring access to NRP information. It provides for sound security with reasonable flexibility to accommodate on-going and future NRP projects, and takes into consideration recently amended personnel and physical security standards. The guide is formalized as an NRP Security Directive.
